Re: LG.Philips LCD Co., Ltd. v. ViewSonic Corporation, et al.;
U.S. District Court Case No. 04-343 JJF

Dear Valerie:

This letter follows up on Cormac Connor's July 11 e-mails to you regarding Tatung Company's assembly instructions and module specifications.

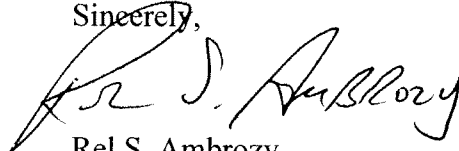

As you know, Cormac has been out of the office and so unless we missed it, we still have not received the assembly instructions or module specifications for Tatung Company monitors that Mr. T.H. Liu referred to during his June 6 deposition. Specifically during his deposition, Mr. Liu testified that "[w]e have assembly instructions to assemble monitors." (See Liu Depo. at 131:8-9.) Mr. Liu further testified that Tatung uses the instructions to assemble monitors and that the instructions show the positions of the screw holes and where the screws should be inserted in products. (Id. at 131:14-132:6.) Further, we requested during Mr. Liu's deposition that all copies of module specifications for accused Tatung products be produced. (See id.)

Mr. Meredith stated during the deposition that all assembly instructions and module specifications had been produced to the extent they exist. (Id. at 120:22-121:10). LPL is not aware of any assembly instructions or module specifications that have been produced. Please note that Tatung's assembly instructions are distinct from the work instructions that have previously been produced by Tatung America. On July 11, Cormac Connor requested that Tatung provide Bates ranges for any assembly instructions or module specifications that have been produced. To date, Tatung has not identified any Bates ranges.

Please provide the assembly instructions and module specifications identified by Mr. Liu in his deposition for all accused products. If you maintain that these have been produced, then please provide the Bates ranges. If we do not receive these documents promptly, we will seek all appropriate relief from the Special Master. Please note that we intend to raise this issue with the Special Master for decision during the August 7th hearing. Accordingly, we will bring this matter to his attention this week, unless we are able to resolve this matter with you immediately.

Sincerely,

Rel S. Ambrozy
